Two plans serve two different usage patterns

SMART

550 UAH / month

500 minutes · 50 SMS · 15 GB included

Overage pricing is materially higher on Smart, especially for data.

ULTRA

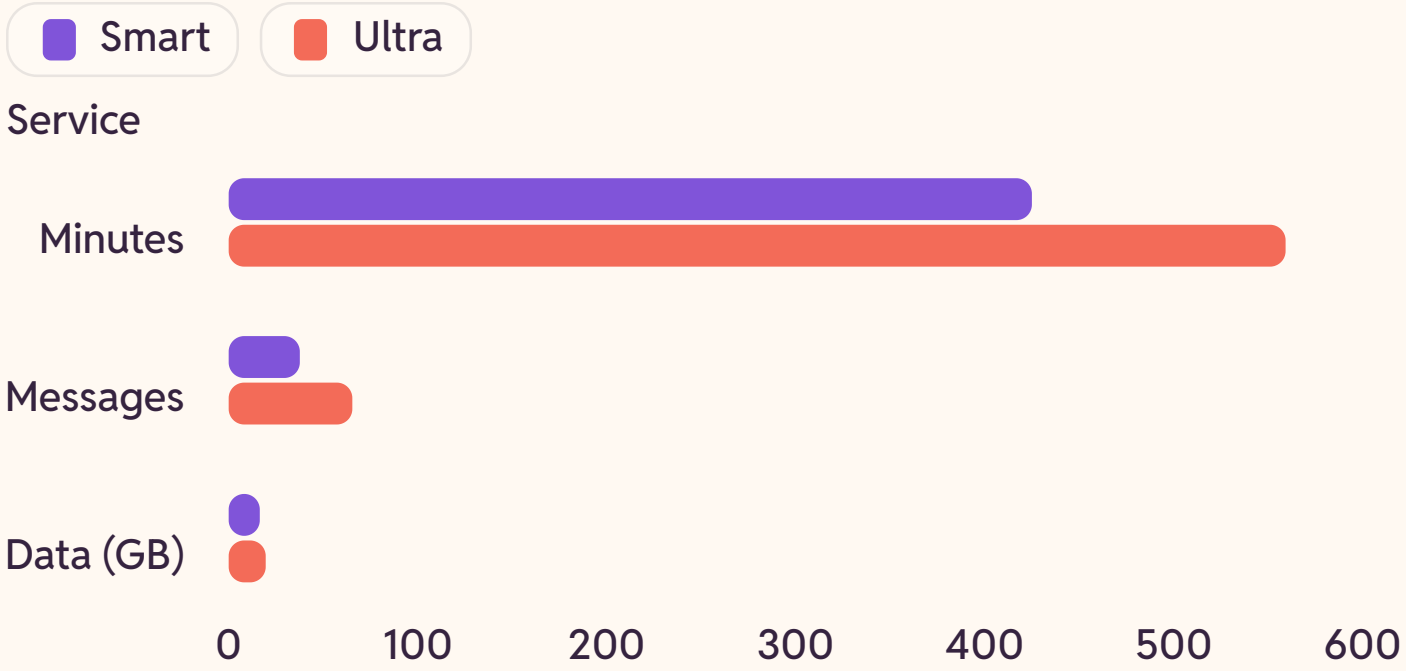

1,950 UAH / month

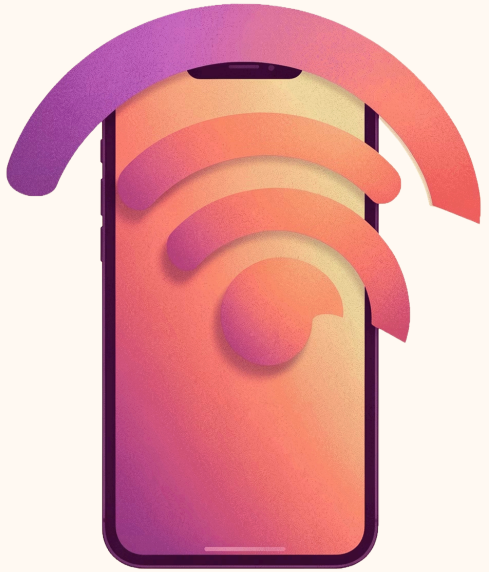

3,000 minutes · 1,000 SMS · 30 GB included

Made with GAMMA

Ultra users consume more, but the gap is widest in voice and messaging

Average monthly usage per user

Made with GAMMA

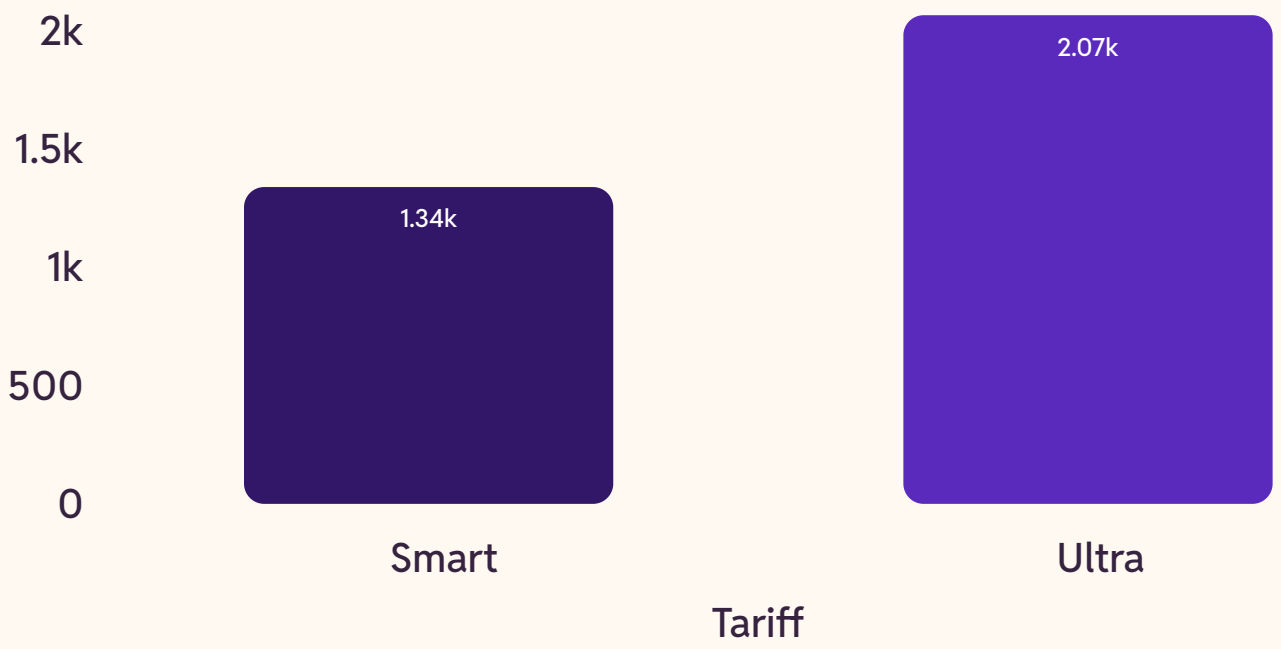

Ultra generates 726.77 UAH more per user each month

ARPU

+726.77

UAH more per user each month

Ultra: 2,066.66 UAH · Smart: 1,339.89 UAH

Smart has the larger base, so total revenue tells a different story

ARPU measures value per user. Total revenue reflects both value and scale.

CUSTOMER BASE

301 Smart users

118 Ultra users

TOTAL REVENUE

2,471,648 UAH Smart

1,540,800 UAH Ultra

Measure	Smart	Ultra
Users	301	118
Total revenue	2,471,648 UAH	1,540,800 UAH

STATISTICAL TEST

$$p = 6.91 \times 10^{-27}$$

α = 0.05

The difference is statistically significant, not noise

Null hypothesis

Average revenue is equal across plans.

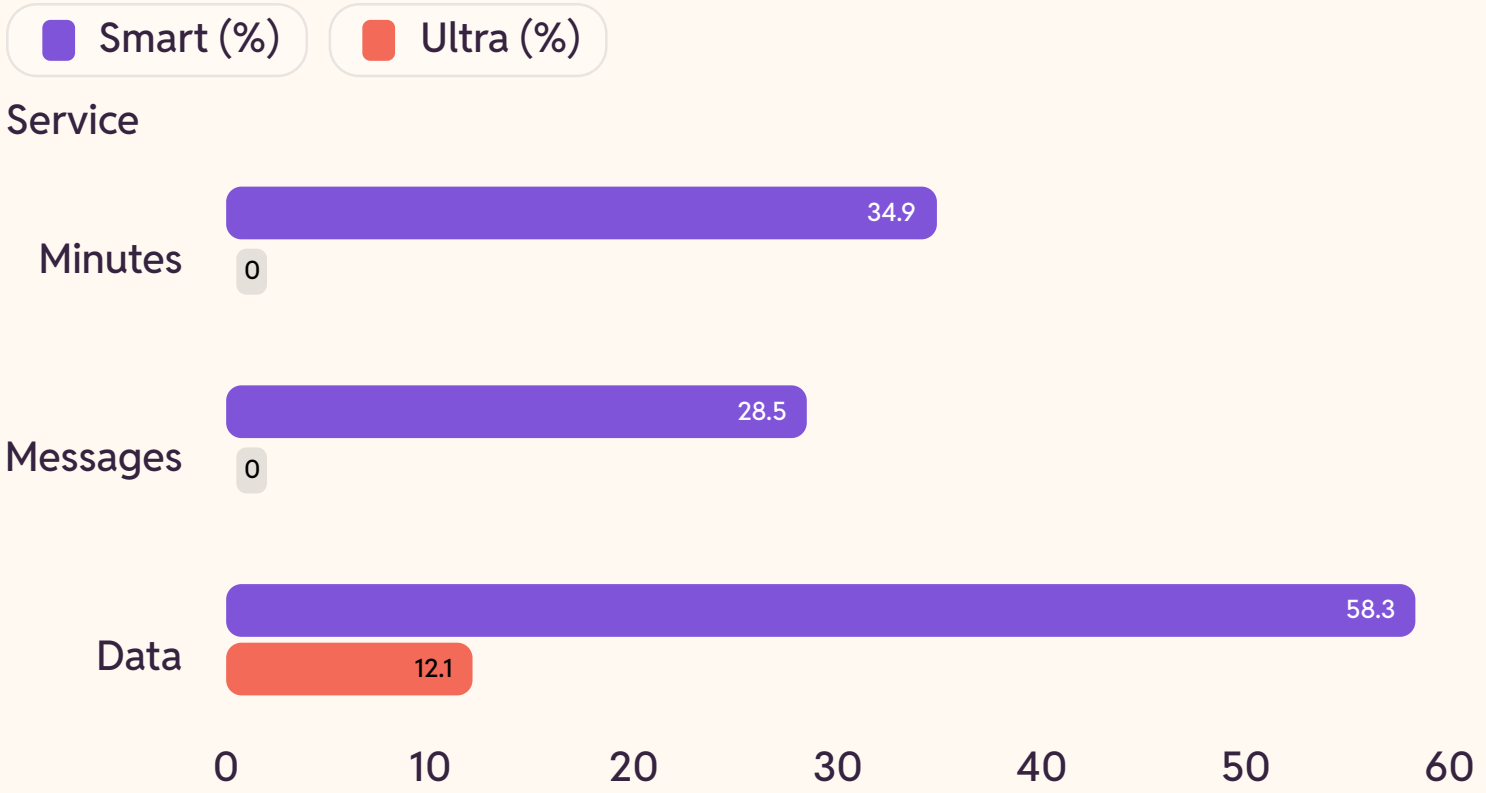

Observed result

The p-value is well below α = 0.05, supporting a real difference in average revenue.

Smart overages reveal the clearest upgrade opportunity

Share of users exceeding included allowances

Data is the sharpest signal.

Smart users exceed the data limit most often, while Ultra overages remain lower.

Made with GAMMA

Promote Ultra where usage already signals willingness to upgrade

Use observed usage to make the offer relevant.

01

Identify

Smart users who regularly exceed minutes, messages, or data limits.

02

Target

High-usage segments with migration offers and clear value framing.

03

Measure

Conversion, retention, acquisition cost, and profitability together.

Made with GAMMA

Decision: grow Ultra selectively while protecting Smart's base

Continue promoting Ultra to high-usage customers.

Test targeted migration from Smart rather than broad conversion.

Protect Smart retention and monitor the economics of the larger customer base.
